

Wind Gusts Whip Valley; Cold Clings

An inch of snow whipped by gusty winds followed by bitter cold left the Fox River Valley and much of the rest of Wisconsin reeling from another in a series of mid-winter storms. And, except for the snow, there's more on the way.

At least five traffic deaths were blamed on the storm that moved into the state Friday afternoon. A two-car chain reaction accident near Hudson, just west of Eau Claire, involved more than 100 vehicles and resulted in personal injuries.

Winds clocked at from 30 to 50 miles per hour dropped visibility to "absolutely zero" at times across the state. The snowstorm that dropped from one to five inches of snow, accompanied by near blizzard winds disrupted traffic in many parts of the state, including the Fox Valley.

Winnebago County authorities late Friday night said no emergency vehicles would be sent out except for serious accidents. Sheriff departments in Calumet, Oshkosh, Waupaca and Winnebago counties said today there were no serious accidents as a result of the storm, although there were many fender bender mishaps and cars in ditches.

Snowplows were taken from roads in Sheboygan County because of poor visibility. Officials there said the plows would be more of a hazard than a help.

State Patrol headquarters at Fond du Lac reported today that main roads in the Valley are open, although some are open to only one lane of traffic. U. S. 41 through the Valley "looks pretty good," a patrol spokesman said.

Area police agencies all reported that there was blowing, drifting on many of their main roads and that many secondary roads remained closed today. North-south roads appeared to be the worst, police reported.

County highway officials in Outagamie and Winnebago counties reported that all plows were out this morning. Outagamie County Commissioner Clarence Brownson said he did not move his plows onto the town roads until today because they would have been drifted closed again had plowing been done Friday night.

Brownson said it was still "drifting heavily" today in the county. He explained that although none of the main roads were drifted shut during the storm, stretches of some highways were worse than others. He said that U. S. 45 near Greenville, State 47 just north of Appleton and State 55 from County Trunk C to State 47 usually are problem areas during storms.

Brownson said he kept a check on the roads until 1 a.m. today. Many area basketball games were canceled Friday night.

Pushing Car Fatal

To Kaukauna Man

The only storm-related death reported in the Valley was that of Grover C. Johnson, about 56, 1115 Lawe St., Kaukauna, who collapsed and died while helping his wife push their car in his driveway this morning.

Kaukauna police said a doctor pronounced Johnson dead at the home. A heart attack was believed to have been the cause of death, although the Outagamie County coroner's office was still investigating late this morning. The body was released to the Fargo Funeral Home.

into Appleton — and into a number of other Wisconsin communities — was halted Friday night, but buses were running today. A Greyhound spokesman at the Appleton depot said drivers reported the worst driving conditions were between Madison and Fond du Lac.

Several Air Wisconsin flights were delayed Friday night, not so much because of conditions at Outagamie airport, a spokesman explained, but because of problems in Chicago. He said that flying conditions were good today and normal scheduling was restored.

During the height of the storm, roads in Watworth, Jefferson, Grant, LaPayette and Iowa counties were closed to all but emergency vehicles.

Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. in Appleton reported that 1.3 inches of snow had fallen as of 6 a.m. today. Temperatures plummeted from well above zero to 11 below zero overnight.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Green Bay reported that at 9 a.m. today, the temperature there was 15 degrees below zero, but with average winds of 22 miles per hour, the wind chill factor was 63 below.

The weather bureau spokesman said the bitter cold and gusty winds could remain for three to four days. He said there is "a continual northwest flow aloft" that has remained for the past couple of weeks. Cold Canadian and Yukon air is being drawn across the Upper Plains and Great Lakes states.

The forecast for the Fox Valley calls for fair and colder, with a low tonight of minus 20 and a high Sunday of 5 below zero. Winds will be out of the northwest at 8 to 15 miles per hour. There is only a slight chance of more snow for the weekend.

Fox Cities — Mostly fair, but colder tonight and Sunday with the low tonight around 20 below zero and the high Sunday zero to five below. Northwestern winds at 8-15 m.p.h. tonight and Sunday. Precipitation probabilities are 5 per cent both tonight and Sunday.

Appleton — Observations at 8 a.m. for the preceding 24 hours: High 18. Low 11 below. Barometer 29.75 and rising. Humidity 63 per cent. Dew point, 19 below zero. Winds west-northwest at 12-20 m.p.h. There was 1.3 inches of snow.

Bomb Kills Youth At Federal Building

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The wall and knocked out some electrical circuits, Perry said. FBI agents and police investigating the incident said many of the building's 6,000 workers were evacuated and the building was sealed off as investigators picked through the rubble for clues.

Police said the blast was of such intensity that it would be difficult to determine the kind of explosive used. The explosion occurred on a floor of the building housing the U.S. Customs Bureau, Internal Revenue Service and Immigration Department.

On Jan. 13 the Chamber of Commerce office in Palos was bombed and the bomb was placed in a waste receptacle in the restroom. Monte was the target of an explosion ruptured water plosion Jan. 1. No one was injured in these incidents.

Spacemen Rest Before Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The countdown ticked on the moon astronauts relaxed, and everything was "go" today for Sunday's launch of Apollo 14.

Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa will ride the power of a Saturn 5 rocket away from their home planet on America's first moon flight in nine months.

The launch team concentrated today on the Saturn 5 after completing preparatory work on the command and lunar modules. Batteries were installed on the rocket and power was transferred to internal from an external ground source.

The astronauts generally planned to relax in crew quarters five miles from the launch pad. In the afternoon they visit with their families and friends, communicating with them through a glass partition. The partition is a requirement of a medical isolation that the astronauts started Jan. 11. They are restricted to direct contact with key personnel.

Families Present
The wives and children of all three spacemen flew here from their Houston homes to watch the launching. For Louise Shepard it will be the second time she has watched her husband vault into space. Nearly a decade ago, Shepard became America's first spaceman when he made a brief suborbital trip atop a relatively puny Redstone rocket with less than one-one-hundredth the power of the Saturn 5.

For Louise Mitchell and Joan Roosa it will be a first. Their husbands are space rookies. This will be the first manned launch to the moon since the abortive Apollo 13 mission last April. The future of the Apollo program could be riding on it.

Apollo 13 Trouble
The near-disaster of Apollo 13, in which the three astronauts made it safely home on the system of the lunar module after the command ship exploded in the cancellation of two Apollo launches. All three of the remaining moon landings could be in jeopardy if Apollo 14 fails.

Apollo 14 was delayed nearly four months while design changes were made to the oxygen tank system.

Trainer for Moon Landings Crashes

SPACE CENTER, Houston, training future moon mission (AP) — The space agency says a failure of an electrical power failure caused the crash of a $18 million moon landing trainer. The ejected safely just before the pilot parachuted to safety.

The Lunar Landing Training Vehicle (LLTV) which had been used earlier this month by Apollo 14 commander Alan B. Shepard Jr., crashed and burned on a check flight Friday. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is investigating Kennedy, Fla., Sunday, flew the cause of the power failure.

It was the third crash of what was his last training flight before the LLTV and leaves only one of the rocket-powered craft for the 27th time to fly an LLTV.

John Hough Succeeds Coleman

Janesville Industrialist Heads GOP

MADISON (AP) — John E. Hough, who was chosen Friday to succeed Reed Coleman as chairman of the state Republican Party, thinks the Wisconsin GOP faces three major tasks.

He said Republicans must deliver the state "overwhelmingly" to President Nixon in the 1972 election, recapture the legislative seats lost to Democrats in the 1970 election, and meet a Democratic challenge at the courthouse level.

"We have given Wisconsin excellent leadership," Hough told, "but we need to see election to a full two-year term." The new chairman said he expected to resign in the near future from his present post of Kipp Corp., which manufactures Wisconsin Republican National Committee. He is expected to eliminate its more than $600,000 debt, he said, but offered no new proposals for accomplishing the task.

"I don't have any magic, new formulas for raising funds. However, quickly we can accomplish this by paying off the debt is beyond answer at this time."

Hough, a 54-year-old Janesville industrialist, was elected without opposition Friday by a vote of the Wisconsin GOP State Executive Committee. He will, Corp., which makes folding doors and movable walls, is headed by him.

Colman said last Saturday he was resigning after a year or so because the demands of the office were too great. Coleman heads the Madison future from his present post of Kipp Corp., which manufactures Wisconsin Republican National Committee. He is expected to eliminate its more than $600,000 debt, he said, but offered no new proposals for accomplishing the task.

"I welcome Republican conversion to a Keynesian economy a full generation after it was accepted by the Democrats," he said.

The full-employment concept in budgeting harks back to the New Deal and British economist John Maynard Keynes, who contended government spending is the key to prosperity.

Skeptics Doubt Full Employment Claim

Non Inflationary Spending
It is based on the theory federal spending is non-inflationary if it does not surpass revenues that would be pumped into an economy operating at full employment. Today's unemployment is 6 per cent of the work force; 4 per cent is considered full employment.

Sen. William Proxmire welcomed the full-employment idea, but thought Nixon was shooting too high, especially in his proposals for space and military expenditures as well as the supersonic transport plane.

Instead, the Wisconsin Democrat said, spending should be held to $220 billion and part of the savings fed into such items as pollution control, job training and health and education.

"That's the way to give power to the people," he said.

Albert and Sen. Edward M

Kennedy, D-Mass., called for the President to combine his red-ink budget with voluntary wage and price restraints.

"This is the 1970s and not the 1930s," Albert said. "To control inflation it is necessary to have a direct intervention by the President through the use of standby credit controls and wage and price controls, use of the moral power of the presidency, jawboning and antitrust enforcement."

Shadow of Election
Kennedy said the "hallmark of the new budget is the shadow of the 1972 election which hangs over it."

General Praise Greet Deficit Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional skeptics have praised President Nixon for breaking Republican tradition in his $229.2-billion expansionary budget, but say they doubt it amounts to the full-employment budget he has forecast.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Ore., termed the deficit budget for fiscal 1972 "a major step forward for a Republican president."

"I welcome Republican conversion to a Keynesian economy a full generation after it was accepted by the Democrats," he said.

KAUKAUNA — Three men charged with violations after being involved in accidents were fined by Municipal Justice Clarence O'Connor Wednesday.

Tim Merkl, 19, 513 Washington St., Wrightstown, was found guilty of following too closely and John Weigman, 25, 505 Green St., Kaukauna, of failure to yield from a parked position and both were fined $30. David Mandachke, 23, 332 Lisbon Ave., Menasha, pleaded no contest for driving at speeds too fast for conditions and was fined $35.

KAUKAUNA — Norbert Weyers, 206 W. Fourth St., reported to police, theft of a fishing tackle box and baits valued at about $50 from a boat stored in his garage. Weyers indicated the theft may have taken place anytime since last August when he last checked the boat.

The case of Robert Dix, 23, Brillion, who is charged with enticing a minor child, was bound over after a preliminary hearing Thursday before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller. Dix will appear before Judge Nick F. Schaefer Feb. 2 to enter a plea to the felony count. Authorities brought the count on the complaint of a 16-year-old girl, who told Kaukauna police that Dix attempted to molest her after she accepted a ride from him in that city the night of Jan. 16. Dix has posted bond.

Two young Menasha men who are charged with burglarizing Orv's Pizza, 2703 N. Richmond St., early Thursday, were appointed an attorney Thursday to represent them after being found indigent by Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Bonds of $1,500 were set for Michael Rekowski, 620 Second St., and Frank Kwiatkowski, 925 Plank Road, both 19. Rekowski also was charged with carrying a concealed weapon, a chain according to detectives. They were scheduled to return to court this afternoon.

Thomas M. Van Straten, 33, route 3, Shiocton, was fined $35 and costs Friday for carrying a loaded firearm in a vehicle last Sunday in the Town of Maine. Van Straten pleaded guilty to the count, brought by a state conservation warden. Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer levied the fine.

A preliminary hearing was requested Friday by two young Menasha men charged with burglary. Michael Rekowski, 620 Second St., and Frank Kwiatkowski, 925 Plank Road, both 19, made the request before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Additionally, Rekowski is charged with concealing a weapon, a chain equipped with a lead-filled CO2 cartridge.

Appleton police brought the counts after an alleged break-in early Thursday morning at Orv's Pizza, 2703 N. Richmond St. Schaefer scheduled the hearing for the pair for Wednesday. Kwiatkowski has posted $1,500 bond. A bail study was directed for the other men, presently confined on the same bond.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

World Champions by IRA G. CORN JR. TEAM CAPTAIN

Most experienced to turn a tournament prefer to play in team contests. The theory is that much of the unpredictability of luck is minimized and that the good play or the good result is usually rewarded.

Unfortunately, as in all other phases of bridge, around every corner lurks the exception to prove the rule.

Observe how Steve Altman of New York City, captain of the team that won the 1970 Spingold Tournament, fared when he beat the opponents three tricks in a contract that was doubled, redoubled and vulnerable.

had a seven-card suit with good texture.

The defense was merciless. The queen of spades was ducked by all, and West shifted to his singleton heart. East won and gave West a heart ruff. Another spade to the ace and another heart ruff. The ace of clubs and two more diamonds totaled eight defensive tricks and 1,600 points for Altman.

How could Altman possibly lose points on this deal? Although his side could make a small slam in clubs, East-West were unlikely to bid that high. If they did, that score would only be 1,370 points, and if doubled, only 1,540 points.

Naturally, Altman felt comfortable about his result. He could hardly foresee the results at the other table.

In the other room the bidding was:

After North's opening bid of one spade, East cure bid showed six clubs and four hearts. South decided to await developments, and his next decision came at the five level. Unfortunately, he decided to bid five diamonds and was doubled.

The defense took the same eight tricks as at the other table — down six. Down six vulnerable totals 1,700 points — 100 more than the previous result.

Altman consoled himself with the fact that his team lost the hand by a small margin — only 100 points of the total of 3,300 points scored at both tables.

Burglaries Finance Black Panther Activity

Newton Speeches Help a Little; White Liberal Contributions Have Fallen Off

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The Black Panther party, its treasury no longer filled by conscience-stricken white liberals, is now turning to two dramatically different fund-raising techniques: the big-time college lecture circuit and a swelling campaign of burglaries by the party's new underground organization.

Although Black Panther leaders have publicly denounced criminal activity, Panther-warchiefs are convinced of the party's recidivism toward its former policy of "expropriating" funds through burglary in the old Bolshevik tradition. The new Panther underground, not regular party chapters, has been given this task.

While in overall command of these underground activities, Panther leader Huey P. Newton is also launching a new lecture tour aimed at radical white students at prestigious colleges and universities. The Panthers, not very impressive in organizing such activities, have taken on an old-line Communist with experience in student-organizing to run Newton's tour.

Bernstein Meeting
These two wildly opposed methods of fund-raising reflect the two faces of Black Pantherism. Although at heart a revolutionary organization of 1,000 armed black militants with tremendous appeal among jobless and nihilistic Negro slum youth, the Panthers have always relied for support from well-meaning but glib white liberals, a trend that reached its peak late in 1969 in the ludicrous session with Black Panthers in Leonard Bernstein's Manhattan apartment.

In fact, the decline in white liberal support that followed the Bernstein fiasco has coincided with the party's return to violent rhetoric. "We have to begin to draw pictures that will make people go out and kill pigs (police)," says Emory Douglas, Panther minister of culture, in a recent edition of the party newspaper.

Nor is this mere rhetoric. Panther lawlessness has been rising, both in attacks on police and with the Panther underground resorting to crime to support its financial requirements. In the past four months, party members have been arrested and charged with 15 separate robberies and burglaries across the country — in Charlotte, N. C., Cleveland, Memphis, Buffalo, Winston-Salem, N. C., Dallas, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Seattle, and Toledo.

Perfect Underground
But those 15 occasions may only be the tip of the iceberg. Nobody knows how many Panther crimes in the same period have not resulted in arrests or how many other arrested suspects are in fact covert Panthers. That's because the Panthers, since Newton's release from prison six months ago, have been perfecting an underground organization functioning in isolated units of twos and threes.

In sharp counterpoint to this is Newton's new plan to cash in on the lucrative college lecture circuit after an unsuccessful tour last fall. Arrangements for the new tour are being handled by a new Black Panther front incorporated under New York law in September as Stronghold Consolidated Productions, Inc. Thus, a university can write a check for a Newton lecture to a seemingly respectable front without the onus of a cancelled check transferring student activity funds to the Black Panthers.

Stronghold Consolidated's corporate headquarters is the law firm of Lubell, Lubell, Fine & Shaap at 103 Park Ave. in New York. Running the show is lawyer David G. Lubell, identified in sworn 1958 congressional testimony as a Communist party organizer at Boston area colleges and since then active in the National Lawyers Guild, often cited as a Communist front.

Speakers Cost Money
The present road show that Lubell is trying to book does not come cheap: a standard lecture fee for Newton of $2,500 plus expenses for Newton and two Black Panther travelling companions, David Hilliard and Connie Matthews.

Apert from a date at Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland, Newton's winter bookings are predominantly at white Eastern colleges: Princeton, Columbia, and Syracuse. In addition, he will engage in a discussion early next month at Yale, where he also hopes to land a lecture. Surprisingly, Newton's ersatz Marxism and incoherent delivery in last fall's lectures have not greatly diminished his popularity on fashionable college campuses.

Yet, the $2,500 lecture fee amid the halls of ivy looks like the last vestige of the radical chic phenomenon which brightly blazed until the Leonard Bernstein affair. The lecture tour, therefore, may be only a temporary expedient. The future of the Panthers lies in its new underground organization in the inner city, where fund-raising is conducted through the barrel of a gun.

Diocese Raises Teacher Salaries

ALGOMA — Salaries of religious teachers in the elementary schools of the Green Bay Diocese have been raised by $500 to $2,500 a year.

The action came at a recent diocesan board of education meeting.

The Rev. Mark Schommer, diocesan superintendent, explained that the elementary teachers' raise did away with an inequity between elementary and high school religious teachers.

This diocese, Schommer said, has been one of a few in the nation to have different salary scales for the elementary and secondary teachers.

The board also voted to increase the salary another $300 next year, pending further study.

The $2,800 figure would bring the salaries in line with the Milwaukee Archdiocesan schedule.

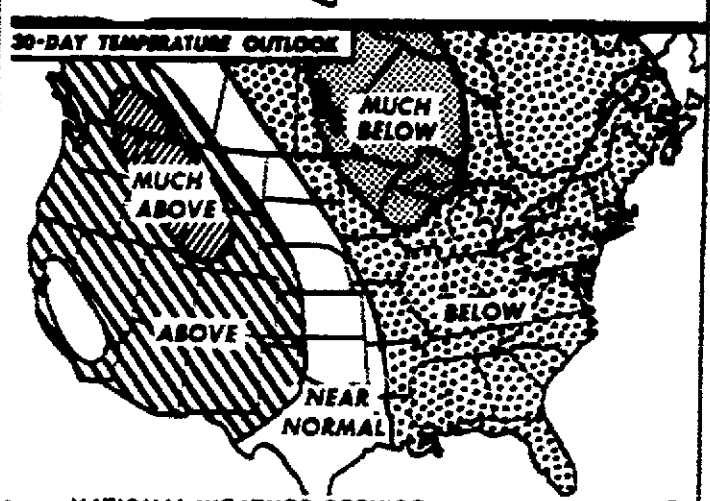

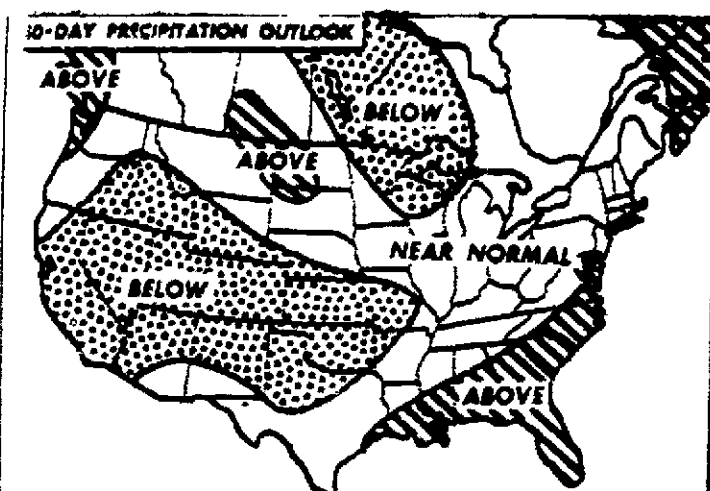

Little Chute Seeks Two Auxiliary Police

LITTLE CHUTE — Applications are being accepted by the police department for two men to serve as auxiliary police.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 35 and application forms are available at the police station. Auxiliary police assist regular police at special functions and are called on to serve as substitutes when the department is short handed.

Indian, Black Culture Asked in Curriculum

MADISON — The history of Afro-Americans and the American Indians would become "fundamental" courses in every Wisconsin elementary and secondary school under the terms of legislation offered in the Wisconsin assembly. Author is Rep. Lloyd Barbee of Milwaukee. The state legislature's only black member.

Advance Warning Requested On Water Quality Reports

MADISON — State pollution law enforcement administrators are proposing that municipal, industries and others be given more advance warning considered by the state agency about water quality condition or that may be issued as a findings to enable them to anticipate orders issued for water pollution abatement resulting from periodic river basin chemical and biological findings.

The new policy proposal, to be submitted soon for the formal approval of the board of natural resources, would require that the river basin reports be issued in the future in such a way as to identify the persons, corporations and municipal government's findings the probable abate-

Bill Would Prohibit Rent Security Deposits

MADISON — A group of Republican members of the state Assembly headed by Rep. Harold V. Froehlich of Appleton said Friday they will ask for legislation to prohibit landlords from requiring security deposits from tenants who rent apartments.

Sponsors of the bill will include Reps. John Wilcox of Wautoma, Michael Ellis of Neenah and Kenyon Giese of Loganville.

The security deposit that is the target of their proposal now frequently is required by a landlord and under lease agreements is required to be returned after the tenant vacates without causing damage to the property involved. Under the agreements, however, a landlord typically is permitted to withhold part or all of the deposits if he feels damage has been done by the occupants.

Froehlich said the method has been "greatly abused by landlords and has worked a particular hardship on students and low-income families who cannot afford to post the deposits which may range in excess of $100.

"Renters have little recourse against a landlord who withholds these funds, claiming who apparently experienced damage to his property, whether or not the claim is legitimate. For this reason the entire procedure should be prohibited," he explained.

Fines Levied for Bogus Checks

The proprietor of a recently opened restaurant in Appleton, who apparently experienced difficulty with its financial operation, was fined $25 and costs Friday on seven worthless check counts and one of failing to pay an employee wages.

William Roetzer, 22, Marinette, owner of Fat Albert's, 111 S. Walnut St., indicated to Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer he probably would sell the business. Roetzer, who manages the eating places here and in Marinette, had made restitution for the eight offenses before pleading guilty to them Friday.

Although named only in the seven bogus check counts, Roetzer paid total restitution of $743.46 for those and other checks. Authorities said most of the checks were made out to employees. They were drawn off the Stephenson National Bank in Marinette. A paycheck of $50.75 to an employee also has been reconciled, the court learned.

The offenses occurred in November and December. Fat Albert's opened last Oct. 23.

U.S. Spending Figured At $1,110 Per Person

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal spending per capita would be $1,110 under President Nixon's $229.2 billion budget for fiscal 1972 sent to Congress today. That's the figure derived by dividing the Census Bureau's latest estimate of the U.S. population, 206,433,000, into the budget amount.

Wind Gusts Whip Valley; Cold Clings

An inch of snow whipped by gusty winds followed by bitter Oshkosh Lourdes game was cold left the Fox River Valley and much of the rest of Wisconsin reeling from another in a series of mid-winter storms. And, except for the snow, there's more on the way.

At least five traffic deaths were blamed on the storm that moved into the state Friday afternoon. A two-car chain reaction accident near Hudson, just west of Eau Claire, involved more than 100 vehicles and resulted in personal injuries.

Winds clocked at from 30 to 50 miles per hour dropped visibility to "absolutely zero" at times across the state. The snowstorm that dropped from one to five inches of snow accompanied by near blizzard winds disrupted traffic in many parts of the state, including the Fox Valley.

Winnebago County authorities late Friday night said no emergency vehicles would be sent out except for serious accidents. Sheriff departments in Calumet, Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago counties said today there were no serious accidents as a result of the storm, although there were many fender bender mishaps and cars in ditches.

Snowplows were taken from roads in Sheboygan County because of poor visibility. Officials there said the plows would be more of a hazard than a help.

State Patrol headquarters at Fond du Lac reported today that main roads in the Valley are open, although some are open to only one lane of traffic. U. S. 41 through the Valley "looks pretty good," a patrol spokesman said.

Area police agencies all reported that there was blowing, drifting on many of the main roads and that many secondary roads remained closed today. North-south roads appeared to be the worst, police reported.

County highway officials in Outagamie and Winnebago counties reported that all plows were out this morning. Outagamie County Commissioner Clarence Brownson said he did not move his plows onto the town roads until today because they would have been drifted closed again had plowing been done Friday night.

Brownson said it was still "drifting heavily" today in the county.

He explained that although none of the main roads were drifted shut during the storm, stretches of some highways were worse than others. He said that U. S. 45 near Greenville, State 47 just north of Appleton and State 55 from County Trunk C to State 47 usually are problem areas during storms. Brownson said he kept a check on the roads until 1 a.m. today.

Many area basketball games were canceled Friday night.

Pushing Car Fatal

To Kaukauna Man

The only storm-related death reported in the Valley was that of Grover C. Johnson, about 56, 1115 Lawe St., Kaukauna, who collapsed and died while helping his wife push their car in his driveway this morning.

Kaukauna police said a doctor pronounced Johnson dead at the home. A heart attack was believed to have been the cause of death, although the Outagamie County coroner's office was still investigating late this morning. The body was released to the Fargo Funeral Home.

into Appleton — and into a number of other Wisconsin communities — was halted Friday night, but buses were running today. A Greyhound spokesman at the Appleton depot said drivers reported the worst driving conditions were between Madison and Fond du Lac.

Several Air Wisconsin flights were delayed Friday night, not so much because of conditions at Outagamie airport, a spokesman explained, but because of problems in Chicago. He said that flying conditions were good today and normal scheduling was restored.

During the height of the storm, roads in Walworth, Jefferson, Grant, LaFayette and Iowa counties were closed to all but emergency vehicles.

Fox Cities — Mostly fair, but colder tonight and Sunday with the low tonight around 20 below zero and the high Sunday zero to five below. Northwestern winds at 8-15 m.p.h. tonight and Sunday. Precipitation probabilities are 5 per cent both tonight and Sunday.

Appleton — Observations at 8 a.m. for the preceding 24 hours: High 18. Low 11 below. Barometer 29.75 and rising. Humidity 63 per cent. Dew point, 19 below zero. Winds west-northwest at 12-20 m.p.h. There was 1.3 inches of snow.

Air Pollution Control Could Cut Car Use

Stringent New Requirements Would Affect Large Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has proposed nationwide air pollution restraints that might require local action to limit use of automobiles in the largest cities — Dr. John T. Middleton, director of the Air Pollution Control Office of the new Environmental Protection Agency, outlined the far-reaching proposals to newsmen Friday.

Decisions on city planning, land use and locations for new construction all may be influenced, Middleton said, by the stringent standards which would apply to air sampled anywhere — in a national park or in the street outside a steel mill.

Middleton said it might not be possible for the nation's largest cities to meet antismog aspects of the proposed standards within the three-year deadline "without actions which would drastically reduce traffic, or the influx of cars, or the way of moving people and goods."

Industry Claim
Middleton said some industries might say they must reduce operations and eliminate jobs to meet the air standards, but he called that kind of approach a "cop-out answer for failure to deal with the problem adequately."

He politely avoided mentioning it, but EPA is engaged in just such a tussle with the giant Union Carbide Corp., which says it may have to lay off 625 workers over the next 15 months to comply with federal air-pollution-abatement orders.

At the same time, EPA announced intentions to seek regulations limiting, and later banning, use of lead additives in gasoline.

Rulemaking Proceeding
While this would be subject to a rulemaking proceeding, the aim, EPA said, probably would be to make sure lead-free gasoline is generally available by mid-1974.

The proposed nationwide air standards would place specific limits on airborne concentration of six polluting substances, adding nitrogen oxides to the five air pollutants identified earlier: sulfur oxides, dust, carbon monoxide, smog-producing oxides and hydrocarbons.

Secondary standards—for preventing environmental damage—for sulfur oxides and dust would be tougher—requiring lower concentrations of polluting matter in the air—than the primary standards would be the same.

The primary standards must go into effect on a definite timetable under air pollution laws, requiring complete compliance by mid-1975.

States and other interested parties have 45 days to comment on the proposals, and final standards must be issued by EPA 90 days from now.

All Systems 'Go' Spacemen Rest Before Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The countdown ticked on the moon astronauts relaxed, and every-thing was "go" today for Sunday's launching of Apollo 14 to

Trainer for Moon Landings Crashes

SPACE CENTER, Houston training future moon mission. (AP) — The space agency says crews, an electrical power failure, Space agency pilot Stuart M. caused the crash of a $13 million moon landing trainer. The ejected safely just before the pilot parachuted to safety.

The Lunar Landing Training Air Force Base runway Off-Vehicle (LLTV) which had been used earlier this month by Apollo 14 commander Alan B. Shepard Jr., crashed and burned on a check flight Friday. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is investigating. Kennedy, Fla. Sunday, flew the cause of the power failure. destroyed LLTV on Jan. 5. It was the third such crash of its last training flight before a LLTV and leaves only one of the rocket-powered craft for 27th time to fly an LLTV

The astronauts generally planned to relax in crew quarters five miles from the launch pad. In the afternoon they visited with their families and friends. The paragon is a requirement of a medical isolation that the astronauts started Jan. 11. They are restricted to direct contact with key personnel.

Families Present
The wives and children of all three spacemen flew here from their Houston homes to watch the launching.

For Louise Shepard it will be the second time she has watched her husband vault into space. Nearly a decade ago, Shepard became America's first spaceman when he made a brief, suborbital trip atop a relatively puny Redstone rocket with less than one-hundredth the power of the Saturn 5.

For Louise Mitchell and Joan Roosa it will be a first. Their husbands are space rookies.

This will be the first manned launch to the moon since the abortive Apollo 13 mission last April. The future of the Apollo program could be riding on it.

Apollo 13 Trouble
The near-disaster of Apollo 13, in which the three astronauts made it safely home on the system, an oxygen tank exploded in the command ship, contributed to the cancellation of two Apollo launches. All three of the remaining moon landings could be in jeopardy if Apollo 14 fails.

Apollo 14 was delayed nearly four months while design changes were made to the oxygen tank system.

John Hough Succeeds Coleman

Janesville Industrialist Heads GOP

MADISON (AP) — John E. Hough, who was chosen Friday to succeed Reed Coleman as chairman of the state Republican Party, thinks the Wisconsin GOP faces three major tasks.

He said Republicans must deliver the state "overwhelmingly" to President Nixon in the 1972 election, recapture the legislative seats lost to Democrats in the 1970 election, and meet a Democratic challenge at the courthouse level.

"We have given Wisconsin excellent leadership," Hough told newsmen after his selection, "adding assurances that he doesn't plan any immediate changes in the thrust of the state party."

The state party must work to eliminate its more than $600,000 debt, he said, but offered no new proposals for accomplishing the task.

"I don't have any magic, new formulas for raising funds. How quickly we can accomplish this is a former state party treasurer. He has also served as party chairman at the Janesville, Rock County and 1st Congressional District levels.

Hough, a 54-year-old Janesville industrialist, was elected without opposition Friday by a vote of the Wisconsin GOP State Executive Committee. He will serve out Coleman's term, which was to have expired in June, and said he expects to seek election to a full two-year term.

The new chairman said he expected to resign in the near future from his present post of Kipp Corp., which manufactures Wisconsin Republican National die castings, air grinders and mechanical lubricators.

Colman said last Saturday he was resigning after a year or the job because the demands of the office were too great.

Skeptics Doubt Full Employment Claim

General Praise Greeted Deficit Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional skeptics have praised President Nixon for breaking Republican tradition in his $229.2-billion expansionary budget, but say they doubt it amounts to the full-employment budget he has forecast.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., termed the deficit budget for fiscal 1972 "a major step forward for a Republican president."

"I welcome Republican conversion to a Keynesian economy a full generation after it was accepted by the Democrats," he said.

The full-employment concept in budgeting harks back to the New Deal and British economist John Maynard Keynes, who contended government spending is the key to prosperity.

Non Inflationary Spending

It is based on the theory federal spending is non-inflationary if it does not surpass revenues that would be pumped into an economy operating at full employment. Today's unemployment is 6 per cent of the work force; 4 per cent is considered full employment.

Sen. William Proxmire welcomed the full-employment idea, but thought Nixon was shooting too high, especially in his proposals for space and military expenditures as well as the supersonic transport plane.

Instead, the Wisconsin Democrat said, spending should be held to $220 billion and part of the savings fed into such items as pollution control, job training and health and education.

"That's the way to give power to the people," he said.

Albert and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called for the President to combine his red-ink budget with voluntary wage and price restraints.

"This is the 1970s and not the 1930s," Albert said. "To control inflation it is necessary to have a direct intervention by the President through the use of standby credit controls and wage and price controls, use of the moral power of the presidency, jawboning and antitrust enforcement."

Shadow of Election
Kennedy said the "hallmark of the new budget is the shadow of the 1972 election which hangs over it."

Three Republican leaders praised Nixon's spending plans for next year and found no criticism of the break with the usual

GOP balanced-budget fiscal policy.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Nixon's budget represents "what the Democrats should have done in 1965."

House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan described the budget as "a carefully drawn fiscal plan which stands out as perhaps the first federal budget to help promote full employment and peace-time prosperity."

And the ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, said the projected two-year $20.2-billion deficit resulted from Democratic fiscal policies "which ballooned almost out of control just prior to the time Nixon took office."

Bomb Kills Youth At Federal Building

Police said the blast was of such intensity that it would be difficult to determine the kind of explosive used.

The explosion occurred on a floor of the building housing offices of the U.S. Customs Bureau, Internal Revenue Service second floor of the seven-story and Immigration Department.

On Jan. 13 the Chamber of Commerce office in Palos said that from all indications the bomb was placed in a waste Municipal Court Building in El Monte was the target of an explosion Jan. 1. No one was injured, blew a 4-by-5-foot hole in a

Burglaries Finance Black Panther Activity

Newton Speeches Help a Little; White Liberal Contributions Have Fallen Off

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The Black Panther party, its treasury now filled by conscience-stricken white liberals, is now Black Panthers. Stronghold Consolidated's corporate headquarters is the law firm of Lubell, Lubell, Fine & Shaap at 103 Park Ave. in New York. Running the show is lawyer David G. Lubell, identified in sworn 1958 congressional testimony as a Communist party organizer at Boston area colleges and since then active in the National Lawyers Guild, often cited as a Communist front.

Although Black Panther leaders have publicly denounced criminal activity, Panther-warchers are convinced of the party's recidivism toward its former policy of "expropriating" funds through burglary in the old Bolshevik tradition. The new Panther underground, not regular party chapters, has been given this task.

While in overall command of these underground activities, Panther leader Huey P. Newton is also launching a new lecture tour aimed at radical white students at prestigious colleges and universities. The Panthers, not very impressive in organizing such activities, have taken on an old-line Communist with experience in student-organizing to run Newton's tour.

Bernstein Meeting
These two wildly opposed methods of fund-raising reflect the two faces of Black Pantherism. Although at heart a revolutionary organization of 1,000 armed black militants with tremendous appeal among jobless and nihilistic Negro slum youth, the Panthers have always relied for support from well-meaning but glib white liberals, a trend that reached its peak late in 1969 in the ludicrous session with Black Panthers in Leonard Bernstein's Manhattan apartment.

In fact, the decline in white liberal support that followed the Bernstein fiasco has coincided with the party's return to violent rhetoric. "We have to begin to draw pictures that will make people go out and kill pigs (police)," says Emory Douglas, Panther minister of culture, in a recent edition of the party newspaper.

Nor is this mere rhetoric. Panther lawlessness has been rising, both in attacks on police and with the Panther underground resorting to crime to support its financial requirements. In the past four months, party members have been arrested and charged with 15 separate robberies and burglaries across the country — in Charlotte, N. C., Cleveland, Memphis, Buffalo, Winston-Salem, N. C., Dallas, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Seattle, and Toledo.

Perfect Underground
But those 15 occasions may only be the tip of the iceberg. Nobody knows how many Panther crimes in the same period have not resulted in arrests or, how many other arrested suspects are in fact covert Panthers. That's because the Panthers, since Newton's release from prison six months ago, have been perfecting an underground organization functioning in isolated units of twos and threes.

In sharp counterpoint to this is Newton's new plan to cash in on the lucrative college lecture circuit after an unsuccessful tour last fall. Arrangements for the new tour are being handled by a new Black Panther front incorporated under New York law in September as Stronghold Consolidated Productions, Inc. Thus, a university can write a check for a Newton lecture to a seemingly respectable front without the onus of a cancelled check transferring longer filled by conscience-stricken white liberals, is now Black Panthers.

Speakers Cost Money
The present road show that Lubell is trying to book does not come cheap: a standard lecture fee for Newton of $2,500 plus expenses for Newton and two Black Panther travelling companions, David Hilliard and Connie Matthews.

Apart from a date at Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland, Newton's winter bookings are predominantly at white Eastern colleges: Princeton, Columbia, and Syracuse. In addition, he will engage in a discussion early next month at Yale, where he also hopes to land a lecture. Surprisingly, Newton's ersatz Marxism and incoherent delivery in last fall's lectures have not greatly diminished his popularity on fashionable college campuses.

Yet, the $2,500 lecture fee amid the halls of ivy looks like the last vestige of the radical chic phenomenon which brightly blazed until the Leonard Bernstein affair. The lecture tour, therefore, may be only a temporary expedient. The future of the Panthers lies in its new underground organization in the inner city, where fund-raising is conducted through the barrel of a gun.

President Recommends Federal Funds for 3 State Water Projects
WASHINGTON (AP) — In his fiscal 1972 budget, to Congress today, President Nixon recommended appropriations for water projects in Wisconsin to be constructed by Army engineers. The construction projects are Green Bay harbor, $1,281,000, La Farge Lake and channel improvements $1,730,000, and Racine harbor, $510,000.

There were no recommendations for planning projects for Wisconsin.

Directors Re-elected At Walter Brewing
Directors were re-elected recently at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Geo. Walter Brewing Co., Appleton.

They were H. M. Rossmetschl, Roland J. Marx, Alex Knaus, Judge Raymond P. Dohr and Mr. and Mrs. John Milhaupt, all of Appleton, Theodore Heid, Kimberly, and Paul Dohr, Peshtigo.

The firm is a closely held corporation and brewer of Adler Brau beer.

Diocese Raises Teacher Salaries

ALGOMA — Salaries of religious teachers in the elementary schools of the Green Bay Diocese have been raised by $500 to $2,500 a year.

The action came at a recent diocesan board of education meeting.

The Rev. Mark Schommer, diocesan superintendent, explained that the elementary teachers' raise did away with an inequity between elementary and high school religious teachers.

This diocese, Schommer said, has been one of a few in the nation to have different salary scales for the elementary and secondary teachers.

The board also voted to increase the salary another $300 next year, pending further study.

The $2,500 figure would bring the salaries in line with the Milwaukee Archdiocese schedule.

Little Chute Seeks Two Auxiliary Police

LITTLE CHUTE — Applications are being accepted by the police department for two men to serve as auxiliary police.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 35 and application forms are available at the police station. Auxiliary police assist regular police at special functions and are called on to serve as substitutes when the department is short handed.

Indian, Black Culture Asked in Curriculum

MADISON — The history of Afro-Americans and the American Indians would become "fundamental" courses in the history curriculum of every Wisconsin elementary and secondary school under the terms of legislation offered in the Wisconsin assembly.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Saturday, Jan. 30, the 30th day of 1971. There are 335 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, President Von Hindenburg named Adolf Hitler chancellor of Germany.

On this date: In 1835, two shots fired by a would-be assassin missed President Andrew Jackson. It was the first attempt to assassinate an American president.

In 1882, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 32nd president of the United States, was born at Hyde Park, N.Y.

In 1915, the death penalty was abolished in South Dakota.

In 1933, "The Lone Ranger," a radio program destined to become a national favorite, was broadcast for the first time.

In 1948, the Indian nationalist leader Mohandas Gandhi, was assassinated in New Delhi.

In 1965, Sir Winston Churchill was buried in a village churchyard at Bladon, England.

Ten years ago: In his first State of the Union message, President John F. Kennedy said of the Soviet Union and Communist China: "We must never be lulled into believing that either power has yielded its ambitions for world domination."

Five years ago: The Eastern Seaboard was crippled by a massive blizzard, with record low temperatures recorded by some Southern states.

One year ago: West German State Secretary Egon Bahr met with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow to discuss a possible mutual renunciation-of-force pact.

Bill Would Prohibit Rent Security Deposits

MADISON — A group of Republican members of the state Assembly headed by Rep. Harold V. Froehlich of Appleton said Friday they will ask for legislation to prohibit landlords from requiring security deposits from tenants who rent apartments.

Sponsors of the bill will include Reps. John Wilcox of Wautoma, Michael Ellis of Neenah and Kenyon Giese of Loganville.

The security deposit that is frequently is required by a landlord and under lease agreements is required to be returned after the tenant vacates without causing damage to the property involved. Under the agreements, however, a landlord typically is permitted to withhold part or all of the deposits if he feels damage has been done by the occupants.

Froehlich said the method has been "greatly abused by landlords and has worked a particular hardship on students and low-income families who cannot afford to post the deposits which may range in excess of $100.

"Renters have little recourse against a landlord who withholds these funds, claiming damage to his property, whether or not the claim is legitimate. For this reason the entire procedure should be prohibited," he explained.

Fines Levied for Bogus Checks

The proprietor of a recently opened restaurant in Appleton, who apparently experienced difficulty with its financial operation, was fined $25 and costs Friday on seven worthless check counts and one of failing to pay an employee wages.

William Roetzer, 22, Marinette, owner of Fat Albert's, 111 S. Walnut St., indicated to Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer he probably would sell the business. Roetzer, who manages the eating places here and in Marinette, had made restitution for the eight offenses before pleading guilty to them Friday.

Although named only in the seven bogus check counts, Roetzer paid total restitution of $743.46 for those and other checks. Authorities said most of the checks were made out to employees. They were drawn off the Stephenson National Bank in Marinette. A paycheck of $50.75 to an employee also has been reconciled, the court learned.

The offenses occurred in November and December. Fat Albert's opened last Oct. 23.

U.S. Spending Figured At $1,110 Per Person

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal spending per capita would be $1,110 under President Nixon's $229.2 billion budget for fiscal 1972 sent to Congress today.

That's the figure derived by dividing the Census Bureau's latest estimate of the U.S. population, 206,433,000, into the budget amount.

A neat way to keep a supply of paper clips in handy formation is today's fun-project. You can make the holder for your own desk and perhaps you will want to make another for Dad's or Mother's desk.

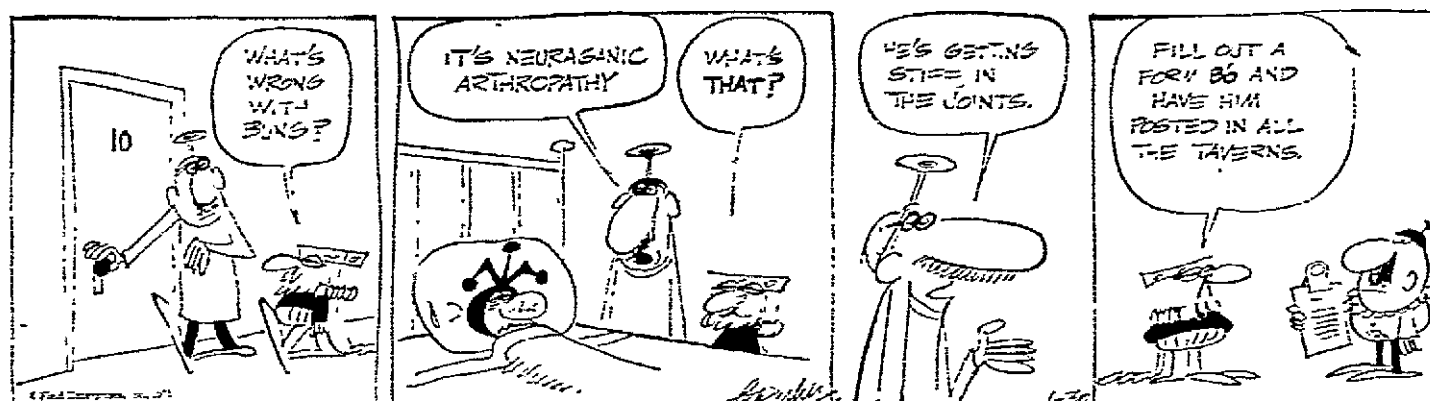

First of all, cut a column of Styrofoam one inch square and four inches long. Glue it to a flat stone about three inches in diameter as shown in the adjoining illustration. Glue a

'Aristocats' Holds Disney Trademark

Animated Feature Fun Movie; Full of Suspense, Quality

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Walt Disney Productions has come through with its first full-length animated feature since Disney died and it's up to all the others in quality.

"The Aristocats," currently playing at the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Plaza Theater in Oshkosh, has a lot going for it. The story is a bright one about people and cats in Paris of 1910. It seems there is this eccentric old lady who wants to leave her fortune to her beloved cats. Therein lies the plot and consequent skulduggery.

There are the important "voices" who do their work so well. There's Phil Harris in the local role of the swinging, adventurous alley cat named Thomas O'Malley. (He's the hero.) There's the velvety voice of Eva Gabor, who speaks for Duchess-mamma, the heiress and heroine; there's Sterling Holloway, who talks for the little detective mouse Roquefort on the search for the kidnapped cats.

Maurice Chevalier sings the title song written by Oscar winner Richard M. Sherman and his brother, Robert B. Sherman. (They are the songwriters for "Chitty, Chitty, Bang, Bang" and four Disney musicals — "Mary Poppins," "The Happiest Millionaire," "The One and Only Genuine Original Family Band," and "Bedknobs and Broomsticks.") "Aristocats" has three songs, newly written by the Shermans, which help the picture along. One of the highlights of the movie is the swinging music at Scat Cat's Band (they are O'Malley's friends and do their playing on the Left Bank of Paris).

The feature skips right along in the lighthearted yet suspenseful Disney manner. Like most of the animated productions, "The Aristocats" took several years to make. Like the others, this shows up in its quality, but to the movie audience the film moves right along, provoking the laughter and holding interest from beginning to end.

Philadelphia Cabs To Have Locked Safes

Jingo Takes Look at Weekend Happenings

Stay-at-Homes Can See Exceptional 'No Miracle but Love' Sunday on TV-5

BY JINGO
Right around home there are all sorts of things going on. One of the highlights of the weekend which may appeal to many is a 30-minute television feature Sunday on the subject of the Bethesda Lutheran Home in Watertown, Wis.

Pearl Bailey Has Another Great Show

BY TV SCOUT
7:30-8:30 Channel 11 — The Pearl Bailey Show comes up with another good one, with George Kirby on hand, going Flip Wilson's Geraldine one better by imitating Pearl. Mae, which confuses guest Lucille Ball so much she keeps calling him Pearl. Lucy also manages a parody of Pearl's grand entrance, which doesn't set too well with Pearl. The two ladies sing "Everything's Coming Up Roses" and Lucy appears as an out-of-step marcher in the finale. Sergio Mendes and Brasil '66 are also around.

5:30-6:30 Channels 11-9 — ABC begins its series of weekly golf events with The Andy Williams-San Diego Open, from the Torrey Pines Golf Club. Chris Schenkel, Bill Flemming and Dave Marr report on the action, with the final rounds of play set for tomorrow.

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7 — Henry Darrow moves over from his role as Mano in The High Chaparral to play the leader of a group of revolutionaries on Mission: Impossible. He and his gang, now infiltrated by Phelps and Dana, commit robberies. In escaping from their latest, they hide out in a house where the occupants are out for the day.

6:30-7:30 Channel 5 — By a strange coincidence, The Andy Williams Show is originating from San Diego, where the Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament is happening right now.

7:30-8 Channels 2-7 — My Three Sons has a very funny script, thanks to the presence of Butch Patrick as Elmore "Yo Ho" Crocker. Ernie's good and dear friend and a young gentleman of smooth tongue. He and Ernie are busily planning their Friday night date, the one on which they will drive the girls because they will have gotten their licenses that day.

8-8:30 Channels 2-7 — Depending on your age, you may remember Vanessa Brown as a Quiz Kid or the star of My Favorite Husband. A series of a decade ago. She's been retired lately but emerges long enough to play the wife of Julius on Arnie. They are about to celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary, only Julius has been playing on the Left Bank of Paris).

8:30-9 Channels 2-7 — Still another winner for The Mary Tyler Moore Show has a local theater company (where Ted Baxter is the resident "star") producing a play written by Murray. Ted stars, of course, but Marv gets a smaller role in a character based on her role moves right along, provoking the laughter and holding interest from beginning to end.

Home's teen-age mental retardates and the work the Lutherans do to promote a magnificent program. It is a widely known program, which is why the National Broadcasting Religious Programs Unit promoted the film in cooperation and with the blessings of The Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod.

The documentary will be tele-

cast at 12:30 p.m. Sunday over Channel 5, WFRV-TV. The narrator will do more than take viewers on a tour of the Bethesda complex, which is home for 660 mentally retarded from 8 to 89, hospital and school. It is the story of the unique work done there. It's like the man says: "For those who live and work here it is not a world of wheelchairs or withered limbs or misshapen bodies. It is a world of smiling faces which mirror back the love which has been shown to them."

Opera Sold Out

As for John Koopman's Lawrence University Opera Theatre and the two comedy operas his students are putting on at the music-drama center, don't go to see them tonight. Not that they aren't good and worthwhile seeing. They are. It's just that the house is a sell-out unless the weather makes available cancellations. In that case, the box office will know this information.

Sunday Programs

On tap for Sunday are several other programs worth attending. First, there's the band concert at 3 p.m. at Lawrence Memorial Chapel. This is Fred Schroeder's magnificent Lawrence Symphony Band.

Then, at 2 p.m., at Neenah's Bergstrom Art Center is Sister Thomasita's slide lecture. This sounds fascinating to Jingo. From Cardinal Stritch College, in Milwaukee, Sister will present a slide lecture on the inspirational creativity of art in such motivating forms as painting, weaving and rug making. Her talk proves that everyday living can be creative, positive and challenging. There'll probably be time for personal questions during the reception after the lecture.

Ecumenical Choir

A first worth attending is the Ecumenical Choir Festival being given Sunday night by members of 14 choirs of Neenah-Menasha churches under the direction of Martin Kurka. The program is part concert, part spiritual service. It starts at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mary Catholic Church, Menasha.

Jingo has heard that even the congregation will help the massed choirs along in one part of the program. It sounds like an excellent program to launch an annual event that might even spread a little throughout the Fox Cities.

4½-Month Strike Comes to Neenah

The K-C Niagara Message

BY DOUG KOPLIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH-MENASHA — Being out on strike for 4½ months does a lot to drain the pocketbook and just as important, the pride of a man.

It hurts for a man who has been a good provider for 20 or 30 years to have to apply for welfare or buy food stamps to sustain his family.

But some feel it would do much more damage to his pride to go back to work under terms of a contract in which he did not believe.

Almost half of the 660 members of Local 205, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers, made a 150-mile trip from Niagara Friday to make sure Kimberly-Clark Corp. understands that the workers will not go back for anything less than their demands.

72 Cars
Milling around the Labor Temple in Neenah before their 72-car motorcade carried them through the Twin Cities to advertise their protest against the company, the men, many accompanied by their wives, were determined that they were not going back to work until a "fair and just" settlement was reached.

They've been out of work since Sept. 12, when negotiations on a new two-year contract broke down, three months after the old pact had expired.

But, despite the 4½ months of meager income and no work, they appear more determined than ever to keep fighting for what they want.

The feeling of Martin "Pope" Ponzio, Local 205 president, that "We'll stay out until we can keep what we got" was echoed by the rank and file.

Nothing Else
One wife, who obviously feels as strongly about the strike as her husband who's been working in the plant for 22 years said, "We have to keep going until we win, because there's nothing else to do."

"Oh, sure, it's hard without the money, but at least we can buy food with food stamps. Of course we can't buy the kids clothes when they need it."

The workers are getting $28 a week in strike benefits, but with donations from unions throughout the country, Ponzio said, another $15 would be given to each worker starting next week.

"Unions, not even associated with the paper industry, are sending checks to us. Not a day goes by that we don't get $500 or $1,000 check from some local," he said.

John Gagnon, whose idea it was to make the trek from Niagara to the Twin Cities said, "We had to do something to get our message to the people."

The main points of disagreement are contract expiration dates and the right to retain the seniority promotion system. Wages are not an issue.

Gordon "Fuzzy" Shewmaker who writes the union's weekly newsletter, is as determined to stay out until a fair agreement is reached as any one of his 660 counterparts, despite having a house only five years old and admittedly "in debt."

"But I live on the Michigan side and get ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) so we get along," he said.

However, his fellow workers who live in Wisconsin aren't so fortunate. All they can qualify for is the federal food stamp program which "Puts food on the table but we aren't eating nearly as well as we did before," one wife said.

And, the prospects of an early settlement appear dim for the workers, who make up about 80 per cent of the male population of Niagara, which has barely over 2,000 inhabitants.

The K-C book paper manufacturing plant is not only the major industry of Niagara, but for most purposes the only place to get a job.

With the plant shut down, part-time employment is almost non-existent, so the only income is from strike benefits.

"People in town have been good to us," a wife explained, "we can get credit and the banks are asking us to keep up the interest on our mortgages — if we can."

"But it's difficult for a man who has been working for all these years all of a sudden to have to buy the food stamps," her husband said.

That's probably the hardest part," his wife whispered as they walked out to their car to start the motorcade through the Twin Cities and protest in front of the K-C main offices.

Nichols Gets $47,880 Grant

WASHINGTON — Rep. John W. Byrnes announced Friday that a federal grant of $47,880 has been approved for construction of a secondary sewage treatment plant in the Village of Nichols.

Byrnes said the new plant will include chlorination facilities. The total cost of the project will be $161,200.

The federal grant is from the Water Quality Office of the environmental protection agency.

Jarold R. Schuck Will Join Rep. Byrnes' Congressional Staff

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., announced Friday that Jarold R. Schuck will join his congressional staff in Washington on March 1.

Schuck, 34, has been public relations director of the Republican Party of Wisconsin, with headquarters in Madison, since 1965. He previously served as administrative assistant to Lt. Gov. Jack Olson.

A native of Byrnes' 8th congressional district, Schuck was born and raised in Marinette where he attended grade and high school and his first year of college. After service with the U.S. Army in Germany in 1955-56, he entered the University of Wisconsin at Madison and graduated with a B.S. degree in 1960. Schuck is married and the father of four children.

Menasha Merchant Dies Early Today

MENASHA — Bernard (Ben) Mattern, 73, for many years co-owner of the Mattern Brothers Grocery Store here, died this morning.

Mattern and his brother Andrew were operators of the store.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Laemmrich Funeral Home.

Automation to Improve State Bookkeeping System

MADISON (AP)—The secret-counting was "traditionally, cumbersome," Nussbaum said. The Wisconsin Department of Administration report, the bureau of finance has been directed to prepare legislation practices to the governor's office that would encourage the use of modern statistical preaudit techniques without adding more personnel.

Joe Nussbaum informed Gov. Patrick J. Lucey by letter that automation was expected to permit periodic reports during a fiscal year for a more frequent, accurate and timely statement on the condition of state finances.

NM's Ash Hauling Job Waits New Pact Terms

NEENAH-MENASHA — The sewerage commission's new ash hauling contract is proceeding clumsily, but it looks like Twin City ashes will be hauled without a break.

The present contract with James Lehrer, Kaukauna, runs out Sunday at midnight. In a special meeting Friday the commission opened and then returned Lehrer's proposal with no action taken.

It did vote to furnish specifications to three other haulers and ask them to submit proposals by Feb. 8, the next regular meeting. The three who have expressed interest are, Schulz Hauling Corp., Neenah; Schneider Tank Lines, Inc., Neenah; and Van Handel Sand & Gravel Co., Appleton. James and John Schulz were at the meeting.

The commission has made no bones about its dissatisfaction over the lack of competition for the work. Prior to this, Lehrer was the only one with an approved dump site and the somewhat specialized equipment for the job. Commissioner Adam Haber has complained bitterly about Lehrer's use of the monopoly to lever higher prices out of the commission.

Lehrer will be asked to resubmit his proposal.

By Feb. 8, the Schulz brothers will have word on a dump site they want to use in the Town of Neenah. A public hearing that is the last hurdle to state Department of Natural Resources licensing will be held Feb. 3. The brothers say they have other sites, however, if the main one does not get approved.

Commissioner Thomas Wintheiser indicated that if Lehrer

Manitowoc Ship Operations Going To Sturgeon Bay

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Manitowoc Shipbuilding Co. has announced it will move its marine operations, including its floating dry dock, from Manitowoc to Sturgeon Bay, Wis., making Sturgeon Bay the second-largest ship repair center on Lake Michigan, next to Chicago.

The move, company spokesmen said, will provide added space for the firm's crane manufacturing division at Manitowoc.

Only a handful of management personnel were expected to move to Sturgeon Bay, officials said, while workers at the Manitowoc shipyard will be absorbed by the crane division.

Linkletter Talk to Be Telecast Again

"A Talk with Art Linkletter" will be telecast again at 10 a.m. Sunday on Channel 11, WLUK-TV.

The tape recording was made when he addressed 2,800 adults on the drug abuse problem Tuesday night at Appleton High School-East. It was aired at 11 p.m. on a delayed telecast Tuesday.

Sunday's repeat program from 10 to 11 a.m. is by request of area viewers, the station said.

Boy Hurt When Hit By Car in Menasha

MENASHA — Terry Lee Bordeaux, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bordeaux, 832 Seventh St., sustained a bruised, left knee when he apparently ran into the side of a car at 4 p.m. Friday.

The car driven by Gordon C. Bartheau, 49, 639 Manitowoc St., was heading west on Seventh when the incident occurred in front of the driveway of the Bordeaux house.

Little Chute Site of New Trailer Park

LITTLE CHUTE — Construction is under way for a new mobile home park in the village north of County Trunk OO and east of Washington Street.

To be known as "Dutch Harbor," the area is being developed by Arthur Grundy and the Ellis Gray and ultimately will provide 243 mobile home sites. Seventy-five are currently being developed, with the first ones expected to be available about April 1 and all 75 to be ready for occupancy by August.

Reservation for sites are being accepted by Dutch Harbor Mobile Home Park and Sales.

Each of the mobile home sites will be 50 by 100 feet. Construction plans include a 50-by-100-foot swimming pool to be centrally located, a combination recreation building and laundry, a large park area which will include playground equipment and barbecue sites.

Also included will be a storage area for boats, travel trailers and campers. Streets and off street parking area within the 50-acre development will be blacktopped, and curb and gutter will be provided.

Gas lighting is planned for streets and fencing will enclose the site. The site will be landscaped and about 400 trees planted, according to the developers.

Being located within the village limits, the area will be serviced with sewer and water from the village and be included in all village services. No date was set for completion of this project, but developers indicated that they plan to move ahead as rapidly as possible.

Blood Donors Play Key Role in Heart Surgery

NEENAH-MENASHA — Rog-teered her help at the Red Cross regulations stipulate that only five donations be made in a year.

For it was the donors who helped make it possible for him to have open heart surgery in November.

Fliege was back in Menasha the week after Thanksgiving was working part time by Jan. 5 and plans to begin working fulltime next month.

When the need for open heart surgery became apparent, Fliege made his first appointment at St. Luke's Hospital in Milwaukee for Nov. 1. He was expected to have the surgery in February, but examination showed the need for it much sooner.

25 Pints
The physicians then sought replacements for 25 pints of blood for use in the heart machine during the surgery. On Nov. 12, Fliege was back at St. Luke's for several days of instruction and practice in using a breathing apparatus necessary after surgery.

He underwent the surgery on Nov. 16. He was in the intensive care unit for two days and was walking on his bed on the second day. He was back in Menasha the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Fliege, a druggist at Morton's Drug Store, Menasha, is thankful to the team of doctors who are doing 15 open heart surgeries a week, but he is also grateful to the blood donors.

"Donating blood surely must be a happy occasion, since it is in which life is celebrated and shared," he said.

Blodmobile Visits
His wife, Margaret, a registered nurse who has also volunteered her help at the Red Cross regulations stipulate that only five donations be made in a year.

When a donor comes to the mobile site for his appointment his blood pressure and temperature are checked. A study is also made of his medical history and people are rejected who have had malaria, hepatitis or recent tuberculosis. Sometimes the common cold or active hay fever will interfere.

A physician is always in attendance at the mobile unit, but much of the screening is completed by nurses who volunteer help to the Badger Region

The hours will be from noon to 6 p.m. on Feb. 16, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Feb. 17, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Feb. 18.

Transportation and babysitting are available.

Blood Needed for Open Heart Operation

NEENAH-MENASHA — The American Red Cross has issued an urgent appeal for donors with B positive blood. At least 14 pints of this type, one of the rarer ones, must be collected by the Red Cross bloodmobile on Thursday, Feb. 18 at the Neenah bloodmobile.

The blood will be used fresh on Friday, Feb. 19, for the open heart surgery on a 40-year-old woman from Sharon.

Hours for donors on Feb. 18 are from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The bloodmobile will make a three-day visit to the Neenah bloodmobile on Tuesday, Feb. 16 from noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday hours will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. A 576-pint quota is set for this visit.

Appointments are being accepted. Walk-ins are urged to call the Red Cross to check the schedule. Free transportation and babysitting are offered.

NM Schools Participate In Grade School Math Plan

NEENAH-MENASHA — The Neenah and Menasha public school systems are involved in a program to develop materials to help elementary teachers individualize mathematics learning.

Neenah is working with 14 other school districts, two unit-walking at the state Department of Public Instruction in Menasha the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Marjorie Bretschneider, a teacher at Spring Road Elementary School, is a member of the state-wide committee of teachers and mathematics consultants who are developing a package of materials for the program.

These include a specific sequencing of objectives for pre-managing individualized mathematics programs within a variety of school administrative patterns; an audio-visual presentation for teacher in-service sessions, and specific suggestions of ways to help pupils learn fundamental concepts.

The committee meets periodically to work on these projects. The next meetings are scheduled for March 11 and 12 in Oshkosh.

George L. Henderson, Wisconsin supervisor of mathematics education, is chairman of the committee. Dr. Karl Zahn, Whitewater State University, Dr. Walter Loflin, Oshkosh State University, and Peter Christensen III, mathematics coordinator for the Madison schools, are serving as consultants.

Other school districts in the project include Appleton, Cudahy, Grantsburg, Greendale, Hortonville, Kenosha, Madison, Rice Lake, Stevens Point and West De Pere.

3 Area Credit Unions Hold Annual Meetings

NEENAH — Three local credit unions, with total membership at more than 7,800 persons, are holding annual meetings late this month and in early February.

The credit union serves the employees of Bergstrom Paper Co. It has 788 members and total assets of $861,000.

President Wayne A. Long will report the board of directors. Gordon T. Evansen, treasurer, will present the financial statements. Reports will be heard from the credit and examining committees.

The telephone company will give a presentation on "Horizons for Tomorrow." A dividend of 5 1/4 per cent was paid to members on Dec. 1.

Agency Heads Warned Not to Fill Vacancies

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey put some teeth in his austerity campaign Tuesday by warning state agencies against filling staff vacancies unless they want to risk having the positions eliminated.

The governor has urged departments to postpone hiring new employees while he and legislators work to reduce the demands on the state's 1971-73 budget.

Lucey said he expects his austerity appeal to continue at least until the end of the current fiscal biennium, which expires June 30.

Should an agency fill a job vacancy, he said, he may be recommending in the executive budget that many positions that were vacant during this fiscal year up to Jan. 1 be deleted.

"If a department fills a vacancy regardless," he said, "it may find that the position has been abolished in the next fiscal year."

Lucey complained that "effort among agencies has not been equal" to his administration's campaign to reduce expenditures. His campaign, he said, will continue to apply to "all discretionary costs."

The governor's budget message was to be handed to the legislature Feb. 1. But lawmakers agreed to let the governor postpone the message for two weeks so that he might take a further crack at reducing what appeared to be a $400 million gap between budget requests and anticipated revenue.

The governor said his warning about job vacancies is a result "of the seriousness of our state's fiscal situation."

7 Children Die As Home Burns

DERMOTT, Ark. (AP) — Seven children died Thursday night when fire swept through their five-room frame home in this southeast Arkansas town.

Police said the victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Woods who were visiting a neighbor about a block away when the fire occurred.

"It undoubtedly started from an overheated wood stove," said Fire Chief Morris Parker. "It was pretty chilly and the children apparently filled the stove with wood and went to bed."

Authorities identified the children as Daisy May, 12, Mary Anne, 11, Juanita, 10, Flora, 9, Dorothy, 8, Grant Jr., 5 and Carolyn, 4.

Man Successfully Pulls $1.50 Bank Robbery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I have an account here and I want to withdraw $1.50," the tall, middle-aged man told the teller.

But the man didn't have an account, the teller replied after checking.

The man stepped back, put his hand in his pocket, said he had a gun and made his demand: "Give me the $1.50 or I'll blow your head off."

The teller gave it to him and the robber escaped Friday after one of the least productive successful bank robberies in the city's history.

Public Defender System Pushed To Help Indigent

By PETER B. SEYMOUR
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The evils of letting Wisconsin courts appoint attorneys for indigent defendants may be on the way out.

"We cannot afford the lawyers anymore who make it a way of life," Francis Bernat, a former prosecutor, remarked concerning a system which he said he finds disgusting to the theories of justice, often unfair to the needy, a hardship for the taxpayer and a privileged benefit for judges.

Bernat is a member of a Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors study committee which meets Tuesday to review a campaign for state legislation which would allow counties to establish public defender offices.

Some counties currently contract with semi-private legal aid societies to provide court-appointed lawyers. But in most cases, the indigent person who cannot afford legal representation must rely on a judge to appoint a lawyer for him.

Bernat and other attorneys who are promoting the public defender theory cite many faults in the existing appointive system.

Faults Cited

"Too many court-appointed attorneys just make a perfunctory appearance and get as many continuances as possible because they get paid per appearance," the supervisor said. "To me, that always stunk to high heaven."

Bernat is no longer a member of a public prosecutor staff. But he recalls a "certain esprit de corps in the office's staff," and feels the same type of spirit would manifest itself in a public defender staff to the benefit of the defendant.

Racine County promoted legislation two years ago to clear the way for a public defender staff, but the measure died.

It is being re-introduced this year, with the clout of Milwaukee County potentially behind it.

Its promoters anticipate opposition from some lawyers, many judges and the organized legal profession.

Bar association spokesmen appeared last year before county committees that were discussing the idea of permanent appropriations to subsidize legal defense staffs.

Politics Involved

"I wasn't overly concerned over their Johnny-come-lately interest in helping the indigent," Bernat said.

Another evil cited in the existing system involves politics. While the needy languish behind bars in lieu of loyal legal representation, judges and lawyers are tempted to succumb to the appointive system under which the judge can expect political support from the attorney when the next election rolls around.

The appointive system, Bernat groused, "means money to the attorney" and a stronger political base for the judge. As a result, "the power of appointment has been jealously guarded," he said.

Attorney Ted E. Wedemeyer, a county supervisor and former judge, said he isn't convinced a public defender office is the best answer, but thinks it would be worthwhile "if we could have a pilot project for a year or so."

"I recognize some people need help," Wedemeyer said. The current system, he added, might work better if the legal profession were less selfish.

Community Service

"It's time we lawyers start giving a little of our service to the community," he said. "Volunteers would help the taxpayer. Too many people are just out for the buck."

Because of the cost and shortcomings of the appointive system, the theory of the public defender officer—being used in other states, including California for more than two decades—"is going to get a lot of mileage," Wedemeyer said.

"It's costing a lot of money to defend some guys who are guilty before you start," he remarked.

Milwaukee County's Management and Budget Analysis Department is studying the potential costs of a public defender office.

It estimates a permanent staff of 31, including 21 defense lawyers, would cost $432,271 in the first year. It is estimated the county paid $800,000 last year for court-appointed lawyers.

The county has toyed with projects under which legal aid societies have contracted to supply defense representatives.

There are complaints that the existing systems have been abused, with some lawyers making up to $13,000 annually off the arrangement.

The legal aid society project is close enough to the public defender idea to have reduced costs. In a nine-month study of the project, costs to the county averaged $115 a case compared with $190 under the appointive system.

The study also indicates defendants were getting good representation. The review showed lawyers had won dismissal of 34 per cent of cases, and that four per cent more had resulted in findings of not guilty.

Bernat, however, said legal aid societies aren't the best answer.

He said the agencies "were asking $25 to file an old lady's papers. Now all of a sudden they're interested in defending the indigent if there is money in it."

Woman Gets 30-Day Term For Shoplifting

A rare jail sentence for shoplifting was imposed Friday on a woman who indicated she'd steal again if given the chance.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer, citing the pair of gloves that Bonnie Pompa, 22, took from the downtown S. S. Kresge store Jan. 15, asked her if she saw anything wrong with taking merchandise that wasn't hers.

"Nope," Miss Pompa, 221 E. Franklin St., replied.

"You don't see anything wrong with that if you can get away with it?" Schaefer asked. "Right," she affirmed. The judge then directed her to an agent from the probation department for an interview. Returning later in the afternoon, he passed sentence: 30 days in the county jail. "That'll give you some time to think about whether it's wrong," Schaefer proclaimed.

Four others stood before Schaefer on the same charge. Three of them pleaded guilty.

Kathy Krueger, 19, 624 E. Harding St., was placed on a year's probation, and directed to pay court costs. She took a swimming suit from the downtown H. C. Prange store Jan. 6.

Rose Greer, 22, 818 E. Atlantic St., was fined $50 and costs for taking items valued at $4.40 from the K mart store Jan. 21.

The same fine was levied against Ronald Smith, 19, Wrightstown, for the Jan. 22 theft of a pair of men's slacks, sweater and shirt from the Treasure Island store. Smith, 709 Park St., switched price tags on the items.

A Feb. 12 trial was scheduled for Linda Minnie Neuschafer, 60, Fremont, who pleaded innocent. She allegedly took merchandise worth $3.30 from the K mart store Thursday. Bond of $109 has been posted.

Stolen Goods Are Hard to Peddle

KIMBERLY — Two youths, who admitted burglarizing Ace TV in the village last July, told Police Chief Donald Schneck Thursday that sometimes getting rid of stolen property is difficult.

They explained that the stolen items, including tape recorders, portable TV sets, radios and other small items had been hidden in the trunk of a friend's junked car while the youths had searched for buyers.

They found buyers of stolen property—hard to come by so returned to the friend's home, only to find that the auto had been sent to a junk dealer in Sherwood.

The two reported that they set out for Sherwood, and after confusing two police dogs, which guarded the yard, were able to locate the car and secure, once again, the stolen property.

Still unable to find buyers, they drove to a picnic in Kimberly, and proceeded to give the goods to strangers.

Both are currently in Lincoln School for Boys and will be referred to juvenile authorities for the incident.

Fate of Trust to be Determined Menominees to Vote April 3

OCONTO — Menominee Indians will vote April 3 to determine the fate of the Menominee Common Stock and Voting Trust, nearly four months after they were enjoined from voting on the matter by Circuit Court Judge James Martineau.

Martineau, who issued an injunction Dec. 11 forbidding any balloting at the annual Menominee Enterprises, Inc. shareholders meeting Dec. 12, also signed the order setting a new date.

The action came near the end of a daylong pretrial conference here Friday, between Enterprises attorneys and those for Wisconsin Judiciary and the American Civil Liberties Union. Judiciary and ACLU attorneys represent a group called DRUMS (Determination For Rights and Unity of Menominee Shareholders), an activist group of Menominees opposing certain actions and philosophies of Enterprises, the Indian-owned corporation which administers the lands and properties of the Menominee Indian tribe in Menominee County.

Charge Mismanagement

DRUMS, since its formation in midsummer of 1970, has repeatedly charged mismanagement of Menominee business affairs by Enterprises Of particular interest to DRUMS, and the subject of numerous protest marches and demonstrations, has been the lakes of the Menominees project near Keshena, where several small natural lakes have been dredged out to create three large lakes.

Enterprises says the lakes project, a joint venture of enterprises and N. E. Isaacson and Associates of Reedsburg, a lake developer, is to broaden the Menominee County tax base through the sale of lake lots, more than double the tax base to $45 million.

DRUMS charges the project is illegally selling and despoiling Indian lands. They have focused their attack on the Voting Trust seeking for rank and file shareholders a more direct voice in company affairs.

Under the Massachusetts Voting Trust principle which was adopted in 1981 when Menominee Enterprises, Inc., was created to administer tribal lands and may be further condensed after termination of federal control, shareholders do not vote directly for company directors. They vote instead for members of the Common Stock and Voting Trust who, in turn, elect the directors.

At the end of each 10-year period, shareholders have the option to eliminate the Voting Trust by majority ballot. The Menominee minors and incompetents, is entitled to vote the first such period will end in May, and if the stockholders do not expressly vote discontinuance of the Trust it will be declared incompetent.

The form of notice and the manner in which notice is to be given to shareholders announced Enterprises and DRUMS at the adjourned annual meeting to determine which issues will be tried in court before the April 3 election. Five counted or excluded in the

Appleton Schools Expect 440 More Students Next Year

Appleton public school enrollment the largest predicted elementary change and would be sible for running the schools on 440 students, or just over 3 per cent, in September, 1971, compared with a year earlier.

The increase would be considerably higher than the approximately 200-student increase last September but far below the annual gains of the late 1960s which ranged from 800 to 1,000.

Jerome Boettcher, director of operations, said that the elementary schools are expected to lose students again, about 30 next September, while the junior highs are expected to grow by 170 and the senior highs by over 300.

The projections are based on registration "cards in hand" for the fall term and don't reflect the total effect of a possible parochial shift which annually threatens to create a crowding problem he said. More accurate projections can be taken in the spring and summer but the early estimate helps the board of education and administration plan for financial needs of this district, Boettcher said.

Up To 14,700

The increase would bring the system's enrollment to about 14,700 compared with 14,238 last September. If projections are accurate, the senior highs will rise from 3,214 to 3,519, junior highs 3,385 to 3,556, and elementary drop from 7,639 to 7,627.

"The elementary schools are expected to lose a few again," he said. "It's simply the diminishing birth rate in these particular years."

He noted the junior highs and senior highs aren't being hit yet by the leveling birth rate of recent years.

Even in the elementary, there might be a significant increase if there is a strong parochial to public school student shift, Boettcher said, noting a shift probably would at least prevent a decline in enrollment.

Some elementary schools were expected to gain enrollment and others lose next September but none are expected to experience major enrollment changes. Busing students from one attendance center to another will be required and will affect enrollments.

Residential Growth

One school, McKinley Elementary, is expected to increase from 958 to 985. This is

Kaukauna to Have Primary Election

KAUKAUNA — As a result of petitions signed by more than 600 citizens and filed with City Clerk Karl E. Marzahl Friday, primary elections for aldermanic and city clerk positions will be held in the 3rd, 4th and 5th wards. The 1st Ward has only two candidates running and the 2nd Ward, one candidate.

It will be held March 2 in conjunction with the primary election on the county executive post.

An attempt to authorize a primary election if more than two candidates sought the same position failed to secure City Council approval last week. The filed petitions, which represent over 10 per cent of the number of votes cast in the last general election, require that a primary election be held, according to state statutes.

Earlier Mayor Gilbert Anderson expressed regret that the council failed to pass the resolution calling for a primary, saying such an election would help to improve city government and make the elections more truly indicative of the vote of the people.

Introduced Resolution

Ald. William Rogers (5th) strongly endorsed a primary election and as chairman of the council's legislative committee was responsible for introducing the resolution.

Circulating petitions were a group of citizens spearheaded by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pfister. Signatures on the petitions were verified and notarized prior to being presented to the city clerk.

Approximately 400 signatures were needed on the petitions, according to Marzahl. Anderson indicated that City Atty. Donald Green would be asked to study the petitions and state statutes.

New Minimum Wage Won't Affect All

Workers in Retail Trades, Services Benefit From Raise

The federal minimum wage increase to $1.60 per hour, effective Monday, will affect about 1.6 million workers but there are many who aren't affected by the law.

The change in the minimum wage from $1.45 is part of a series of increases which were started in 1967 following a 1966 congressional amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The $1.60 rate will apply to most workers in retail trades, public and private schools, colleges and universities, and hospitals and nursing homes, whether public, private or nonprofit. It also will apply to restaurants, hotels and motels, and laundries and dry cleaning firms.

In all cases except the nursing homes, dry cleaning firms, laundries and hospital, the minimum wage will apply only if the establishment has an annual gross volume of $250,000. The four exceptions must follow the minimum regardless of volume.

Donald H. Haack, acting regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's wage and hour division in Chicago, said that the minimum wage of $1.60 will remain at that level for those who received increases on Feb. 1, 1968 and are covered by the act. These include employees in interstate commerce and in production of goods for commerce and in certain large, retail and service enterprises.

The division administers the act and the federal wage and hour laws requiring payments of a minimum wage and premium pay for overtime hours. The act also requires equal pay for equal work for both sexes and contains restrictions on child labor.

Haack said that there will be no increase now in the present $1.30 an hour minimum wage rate for covered agriculture workers on the large farm subject to the law. He added that no provision in the law presently exists for higher minimum wage rates in future years for any group of employees now protected by the law.

The rate increase began in Feb. 1, 1968 at $1.15, and then rose a year later to $1.30; a year later to $1.45 and then to $1.60. The 1966 amendment provided for no more hikes.

The state wage minimum law covers certain other groups but paid the higher wage. The state's minimum is $1.10 for minor (17 and under), $1.45 for boys 18 to 20 and women 18 and older. There is no state minimum for men 21 and older.

The state law was changed to $1.45 from $1.30 last July, and no more increases will be effected until 1972.

Supermarket Evacuated Friday

A downtown Appleton supermarket was evacuated late Friday morning after a truck struck and broke an outside natural gas meter causing natural gas to enter the building.

The accident occurred at the Kroger Food Store, 700 W. College Ave.

The Appleton Fire Department was summoned to the store. Fire officials said a semi-trailer unit accidentally backed into the gas meter. The fire department was at the scene only a half hour.

The building was ventilated and Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. workmen made a thorough check before the store was reopened for business.

Pupils at Appleton's Washington School arrived dressed for the cold weather Friday morning as sub-zero temperatures continued. (Post-Crescent Photos)
